Introduction

In the fast-paced world of politics, staying organized, reaching voters effectively and managing campaign resources efficiently are essential. Our OperrWork VRM is the comprehensive solution to centralize and streamline your campaign operations, maximize voter engagement, turnout, and propel your political journey towards success.

OperrWork's VRM helps political campaigns identify areas with high concentrations of potential target voters, collect and leverage more recent voter information and helps you promote your campaign directly to the voters with a suite of communication tools, allowing for a more strategic deployment of campaign resources.

"In local races with tight margins, voter outreach makes all the difference!"

Manage Voter Outreach

Our VRM allows you to import and manage countless voter records and leverage them to help your political campaign reach the voters directly in order to promote your campaign. Using walker questionnaires and live feedback data, the VRM helps candidates tailor their campaign messages to potential voters based on voter expectations and interests, ensuring higher voter engagement and turnout on election day.

Email Promotions

Our platform can provide your campaign with the technology which lets your promotional team create custom email templates with campaign slogans and branding. You can then send thousands of customized emails in a single batch. OperrWork simplifies the process of designing professional, consistent emails for various purposes. Save time and effort, especially when sending large volumes of emails to different voters, donors and others.
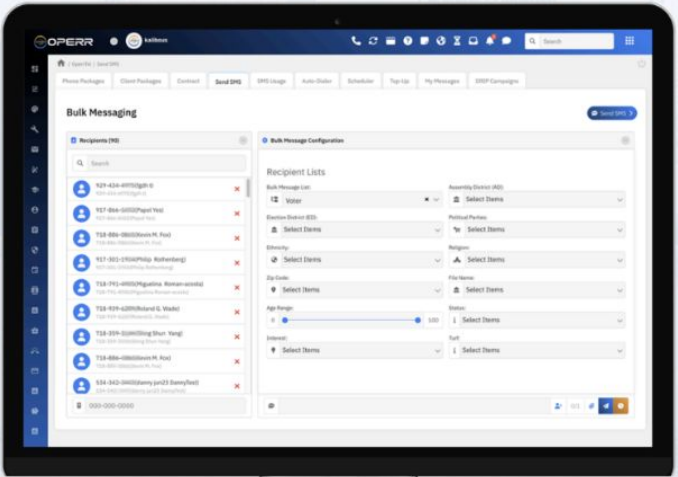

Auto-Dialer

Our auto-dialer can be configured to use custom pre-recorded messages to use for campaigning by phone. The auto-dialer uses existing or imported voter data in the system to automatically dial each voter's phone number and deliver them your campaign's tailored audio message.

Leveraging the power of voter data together with OperrWork's VRM communication tools for promoting your campaign is a powerful combination. Many local elections have been decided with really tight margins, in which, last moment promotional messages make all the difference.

SMS Marketing

Our system includes built-in SMS messaging features, enabling candidates to send personalized messages directly to potential voters, effectively engaging and mobilizing their target audience.

With our system's SMS capabilities, candidate's campaign staff can easily use the OperrWork web interface or mobile app to reach out to potential voters, share campaign updates, event invitations and key messages via text messages (SMS/MMS). This provides unprecedented levels of feedback directly from potential voters to your campaign.

Features such as message scheduling, when combined together with demographic customization allow you to customize and tailor not only when people see your message, but which message is sent to a particular voter demographic.

Creating different campaign messages for different segments of voters enables you to achieve the best possible results by delivering to potential voters more of the campaign message topics they deeply care about within their demographic segments.
